About me

During the last year of my study I found myself enjoying web development in my free time. At the beginning I learned how to create the structure of a website with HTML and add style with CSS. While currently I am learning to add functionality with JavaScript.

Although I lack formal IT education, I am very motivated to learn and improve with every chance I get.

During my studies I learned important transferable skills such as teamwork and communication but also time management and problem solving.
